Rope track System

Rope track system is designed to allow a ladder, trapeze, or rings to be added to the track. These are ordered separately. A heavy duty track is attached to a structural member by clamp. Roller hangers are connected to the ropes. The hanger allows the rope to move freely in all directions and provides long lasting bearing surfaces. The hauling rope on pulleys moves the ropes to the working position where it is fixed by a cleat mounted on the wall. Correct spacing between ropes is maintained by a 5mm D chain shackled to hangers. A wall bracket and chain holds the ropes to the wall when stored.

The TurboCools can produce a huge 10,000 watts of cooling power from a very compact cabinet and can cool down to as low as 5 degrees C. In fact they could cool lower, but for the safety of athletes we electronically restrict lower temperatures. All this cooling power uses only around 3300 watts of electricity at full output.
